

The Meeting of the Lord: Vespers Stichera

Ἦχος ᾠή Πα

Tell us, O Symeon, π q Whom dost

Thou bear in thine arms in the Temple with such great joy? π q to Whom dost thou cry and shout: π q

Now am I freed, for I have been held my Saviour? π q This is He that is born of a Virgin; π q this is He, God the Word Who came forth from God; π q Who is in-car-nate for our sakes, π q and has saved the race of man.

π q Let us wor-ship Him. π q

R e - ceive, O Sy - me - on, Him Whom Mo - ses fore - saw in dark - ness on Si -

- nai when He gave the Law, Who is be - come a new born Babe sub - ject to the Law. This is He that through the Law has spo - ken; this is He that was pro claimed in the Pro - phets; Who is in - car - nate for our sakes, and has saved the race of man. Let us wor - ship Him.

Come, let us as well, with songs in - spired of God, go to - geth - er to meet

Christ, and let us re - ceive Him

Whose sal - va - tion Sy - me - on has now be - held. This is He Whom Da - - - vid pro - claims; this is He that in the Pro - phets has spo - ken;

Who is in - car - nate for our sakes, and Who speaks in the Law. Let us wor - ship

Him.
